NEW THIS MONTH

Books & Resources

July was a busy and exciting month for Logan & Friends!

We added new free resources, shared new ways to support communication, and continued creating books, printables, and activities for families, educators, therapists, and caregivers.

Kindness Cards

Our new Kindness Cards are free printable cards created to spread encouragement, joy, and connection. Individuals can color and personalize each card, then share it with someone who could use a little kindness and a smile.

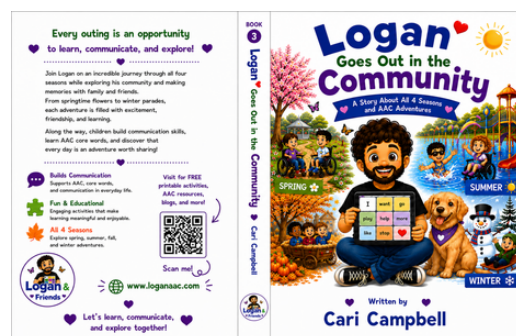

Back-to-School Collection

Our Back-to-School Collection includes free printables, visual supports, communication boards, routines, and learning activities designed to help students, families, teachers, and therapists prepared for a successful school year.

Book News

We're excited to share that Angel Love Water is now available, and work is continuing on Logan's next book, Logan Goes Out in the Community. The new book will include seasonal adventures, learning activities, and fun ways to support communication.

AAC Tip of the Month

Model, Don't Test!

Instead of asking, "What color is it?" try modeling the word on the AAC device yourself. Children learn best when they see communication used naturally during everyday activities.
